Join us to hear stories of change in Iowa related to preparing our future literacy teachers.

Preparing

Iowa's Literacy Teachers:

COLLABORATING TO LEAD CHANGE

Several faculty who teach literacy methods courses and reading endorsement courses are working to develop a group of thought partners. Given changes at the state level related to literacy in recent years, specifically the push for dyslexia inclusive classrooms and the adoption of science of reading principles in Iowa schools, several faculty want to share and discuss alignment with these ideas and principles. The terms balanced literacy and science of reading are becoming weaponized political constructs and we are seeking a safe space to unpack that, share resources, and work to best prepare our students.
