South East Iowa Teacher Career Fair at William Penn University

(Includes NE Missouri and SW Illinois School Districts)

Students and alumni from teacher education programs throughout Iowa are invited to attend the first teacher career fair at William Penn University. Anyone who is immediately seeking employment as a teacher or looking to extend their network for employment in the future should attend. Attendees will have the opportunity to meet with representatives from school districts from SE Iowa, NE Missouri, and SW Illinois.

Career fairs are a great way to learn about job openings and network with school officials from a number of schools. The area school districts who will be in attendance are excited to meet with you about employment and to share what their districts have to offer future employees.
